

The E³UDRES² European University Alliance is comprised of nine higher education institutions: A combination of unique, scientific universities and universities of applied sciences (UAS). All E³UDRES² institutions are ambitious, flexible, small or medium-sized universities (<30,000 students) and located in a small or medium-sized European city (<250,000 inhabitants) of one of the smaller European countries (<20 million inhabitants). While being strongly anchored in their surrounding environments, the E³UDRES² institutions never lose track of international trends and are well-connected within the European Higher Education Area.
